Lomita Civic League Holds
Victory Dinner

by MRS. M. S. GOODWIN
The Lomita Civic League held its victory dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ross in the beautiful new Retail Clerks' Union Hall, Harbor City, with 122 members and friends present for the occasion.
After a dinner which was cooked and served by the Ladies of the Rebekah Lodge of Lomita, Herbert Brisbin, our president, spoke on the victory.
A fund had been raised by popular subscription to purchase an oil painting done by Mr. Ross, which will be presented to a public building in Lomita. The painting, "Lingering Snows" has won a number of awards, and has been exhibited in Carmel, Sacramento, Seattle and other west coast cities. It was on display at the dinner.

Assemblyman and Mrs. Vincent Thomas were also guests of the League. Thomas spoke at length on the wonderful way in which the people of Lomita had shown their determination to prevent the exploitation of their community by promoters and outside interests.
Mrs. Dessie Meyers thanked all of the people who had worked so hard to put his campaign over, and also paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Ross as did the other speakers. Ben F. Gray, Marshall W. Pine, Vincent Lechner and Mrs. Edith Smith.
Mrs. Roy Hathaway made a motion that all those present go on record as endorsing the request for a County Branch Civic Center in Lomita. It was carried unanimously.

El Camino Instructor Is Einstein Authority

Julius Sumner Miller, physics instructor of El Camino College, will present the principal address at the Northern California Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers in Palo Alto, December 20.
"Albert Einstein, Scientist, Philosopher, Humanitarian" will be the subject of Miller's address. A collector of the late scientist's photographs and works, the El Camino instructor is recognized as an authority on Dr. Einstein. His collections contain hundreds of photographs and letters of the revered genius.
Many of the pictures will be utilized by the physics instructor in the presentation of his illustrated lecture at Palo Alto. Miller, under a Carnegie grant, spent the summer of 1950 with the scientist, philosopher, and mathematician at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Princeton, New Jersey.
Following his December appearance, Miller will attend the National meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers, in New York, where he will present a paper on the National Science Foundation program which he administered last summer on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. The paper is titled "A Summer Session Course in Demonstration Experiments in Physics."
Some 5000 leaders in the field of science will be in New York to hear the analysis of the program as presented by the El Camino instructor on January 30.

SPECIALIST
On November 2, the physics instructor presented a lecture demonstration in physics to the California Science Teachers' Association at UCLA. He has been acclaimed recently for the program of instruction for teachers of science which he initiated on the Westwood campus to accelerate and improve the instruction of physics in secondary school classrooms. His course drew teachers of science from all parts of the United States. Miller is recognized as a nationally known specialist in physics demonstration.
Born in Billerica, Mass., Miller received his undergraduate training in philosophy and physics at Boston University, along with his master of arts degree in theoretical physics. He also attended the University of Idaho for his master of science degree in engineering physics.
Miller is affiliated with a number of honorary societies, the American Association of Physics Teachers and Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics society, among them. He is a former physics editor of School Science and Mathematics, a problem referee for the American Mathematical Monthly, and book reviewer for School Science and Mathematics. He was awarded a Ford Foundation fellowship in 1952.

In addition to his summer program at UCLA, Miller has served as a visiting professor of physics at the University of Alberta and elsewhere. During World War II, he was a civilian instructor with the Signal Corp.
Articles by Miller have appeared in such publications as the American Journal of Physics, School Science and Mathematics, American Mathematical Monthly, Turtox News, and Scientific Monthly.
